

About the Program

The Summer Institute in English, part of the English as a Second Language program at North Carolina State University, is designed for students (min. 18 years old), business people, and professionals pursuing more advanced proficiency in English. As a participant, you will receive intensive communicative instruction and practice in the use of American English with classroom instruction in speaking, listening, grammar and writing. A computerized language laboratory is available for some class projects and activities. The Institute offers a number of non-academic evening and weekend activities. These social events will help you adjust to the area, provide opportunities to practice English skills, and engage in crosscultural experiences. Find out more at go.ncsu.edu/sie.

The University

Located in Raleigh, North Carolina, NC State University is a unit of the consolidated University of North Carolina system. Long known as a center of research and teaching in engineering, agriculture, textiles, forestry, architecture, business management, and the humanities and social sciences, NC State University has earned an international reputation for excellence. NC State University has been named #1 best college for your money in North Carolina (Money); #5 best value among public universities nationally (U.S. News & World Report); and #7 best value for out-of-state students among public universities (Kiplinger's). ## Eligibility

To participate, you must be at least 18 years old: all levels of proficiency in English, from beginning to advanced to pre-university studies, are welcome to attend. You will be placed into classes according to proficiency levels. If you cannot arrive by the beginning date of the program, you must inform the Institute of your date of arrival. The Institute retains the right to refuse admission to any participant who arrives more than one week late.

Courses of Instruction

Classes are held 23 hours per week in state-of-the-art classrooms on the NC State University main campus. Core classes are:

- Speaking
- Listening
- Grammar
- Writing

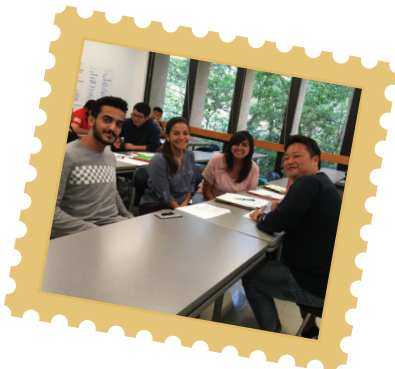

In addition, a variety of possible elective courses are also offered:

- American English Pronunciation
- Business English
- Cultural Topics/Conversation
- Presentation Skills
- Reading and Vocabulary Development
- TOEFL Preparation

Although all classroom work is conducted on the NC State University campus, attendance at the Institute does not carry academic credit.

Field trips and cultural activities are available in the evenings and on weekends, and may include:

- Dancing
- Games Night
- Duke University and Lemur Center
- Tour of Downtown Raleigh
- Meal with an American Family
- Falls Lake Recreation Park
- University Club Swim Day
- International Night
- Final Banquet Gala

Testing

Proficiency tests are given at the beginning of the Institute to place participants in appropriate classes at the beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Housing

If you request on-campus housing, you will receive a housing contract for an air-conditioned residence hall with a roommate, two to a room. To encourage the use of English, students of the same language background usually will not be placed together in a room. The residence hall will be available two days prior to the beginning of the Institute. We encourage you to arrive on one of these two days and check in so that you may have time to unpack and have a day of rest before the first day. If you need to arrive prior to Saturday, June 22, 2019, there will be an additional $25 per early arrival day added to the housing fee. The residence hall will issue sheets, pillowcases, and bath towels to each student. You will be responsible for keeping your linens clean. If you wish to live in an apartment off-campus, you must find an accommodation for yourself. Several options are located within walking distance of the university. The Institute does not have the ability to place participants with families in Raleigh.

Meals

The residence hall fee includes three meals a day, Monday through Friday, except for holidays. Food service on Saturday and Sunday is available at on-campus cafeterias and snack bars, as well as many nearby off-campus restaurants.

Health Services

Insurance for emergency care is included in the course fee. With the provided insurance, participants can receive on-campus medical care from Student Health Services, which is open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. A nurse hotline is available at other hours. We must have a completed medical consent form in order for you to be treated at Student Health Services.

Clothing

Raleigh has a relatively mild climate; however, summer can be hot and humid. Lightweight clothing is recommended.

Parking

A campus parking permit can be purchased for $10 per day*. A permit is required if you will be parking a car on campus.

Incidental personal expenses such as laundry and entertainment are not included. A $500 deposit, which is applied to the course fee, must be included with the application. You must pay the balance for the tuition and the residence hall by the first day of the Institute by cash, U.S. check, American Express travelers checks, or credit card. If you cancel your registration, $350 of the deposit will be refunded provided notification of cancellation is received on or before June 3, 2019. After that date, no refund is possible.

Application Requirements and Procedures

A copy of the application form and certificate of financial responsibility can be found at our website: go.ncsu.edu/sie

To apply for admission to the Institute download, complete and return the online application, with a $500 deposit to the following address:

North Carolina State University
Office of Professional Development, Box 7401
Raleigh, North Carolina 27695-7401 USA

For more information about the program, email: Louise A. Dolan, Program Director, at ladolan@ncsu.edu.

Admission to the Institute does not imply admission to any other NC State University academic program or to any other branch of the University of North Carolina. Students must apply separately for other areas of study.

Note to applicants who require an I-20/Visa:

We will continue to accept applications through June 20, 2019. Candidates are strongly recommended to submit their applications before May 3, 2019. Applications received after that date may not have enough time to secure the mandatory visa.
